THE INDIANA TRUST COM

A trusteeship in any form-whether the present investment of money or the management of an estate, converting it, reinvesting it, seeking to make it more remunerative, or the execution of a will, securing to those designed to be benefited the best returns-requires patient and continued attention, special abilities and knowledge and devotion apart from other affairs.

The INDIANA TRUST COMPANY does this work. With a capital of $1,000,-000 and a liability of its stockholders of $1,000,000 more, its basis of financial responsibility speaks for itself. Its organization, the legal safeguards that surround it, the quality of its officers and directors, its facilities, are things to which candid examination is invited.

AN UNCERTAIN CLOSE

Chicago Wheat Higher, but Increase in Visible Feared.

Receipts from the Northwest Heavy Beyond Expectations-Provisions Generally Firm and Lower.

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.-Unexpectedly heavy Good to choice shippers...... 4.00@4.40 Northwestern receipts to-day knocked out the theory of a falling off in the wheat movement. Incidentally a bulge in the price was also knocked out. It was also found that 1,200,000 bushels of the week's exports went from Pacific ports, and that the visible might show a big increase, regardless of the better clearances. This, with the natural disposition to take profits, left prices only %c better than last night, and the closing very uncertain. Corn secured only 1/3c of a 3/4c advance. Provisions closed with a triffing loss.

Wheat at the opening was 1/2c to 5/4c higher than yesterday's closing, and held quite firmly for a while, then eased off, prices declining 1/2c, ruled rather steady, and the closing was about 4c from inside figures. Cables were stronger and higher, the clearances for the week from both coasts were 600,000 bushels larger of wheat and flour, the New York bank statement was favorable, railroad stocks were higher and a general buoyant feeling pervaded all departments, influenced by the news from Washington. However, the receipts in the Northwest for the week were about 300,000 bushels larger than the preceding weak, and the export clearances of wheat from five Atlantic seaboard and gulf ports were about 200,000 bushels smaller than the preceding week. It was generally estimated that the visible supply would show an in-crease of about 1,500,000 bushels, against an increase of 2,292,000 bushels the corresponding week a year ago.

Corn opened quite strong at 1/4@1/4c advance, and in some instances a further improvement of 1/401/4c was gained. Later. the feeling was not so strong, and prices gradually settled back again 140%c, and the market closed rather quiet at the reduction. As usual on the closing day of the week, business was very moderate. Anticipated heavy receipts on Monday and Tuesday was a depressing factor toward the end. Oats were steady, prices averaging slightly better, and the close on the near futures was 1/40 4c higher; but on May steady. There were no new features.

Business in provisions was confined to the local operators, and was not by them in-dulged in to a heavy extent. The market was generally firm until the close, when the setback in wheat seemed to pull the props from hog products. Pork is 71/2c less costly than last night. Lard and ribs are about Freights were rather slow, but rates were unchanged at 2c for wheat and 1%c for corn to Buffalo. Estimated receipts for Monday are: Wheat, 220 cars; corn, 515 cars; oats, 280 cars; hogs, 25,000 head. No markets Monday on account of the last day of the fair. The leading futures ranged as follows:

OUR JASON.

He Appears in Tammany Hall in the Character of a Great Orator.

At the recent ratification meeting of Tammany Hall Representative Jason Brown was one of the speakers, reading an "abstract of remarks." He is set forth as follows by a New York reporter:

Jason Brown, a big, red-faced person, with a pair of gold-bowed glasses over his nose, was introduced by Governor Flower as a great orator and member of Congress from Indiana. Mr. Brown produced a pile of manuscript, adjusted his glasses, cleared his throat and read his "abstract of remarks" until the crowd became extremely tired. He eulogized Tammany Hall, and said he had always liked it because it was strictly partisan and always Democratic. He praised its untiring energy and its tenacious support of Democratic candidates. Then he went into a biased and indecurate history of silver legislation. For the victory which the repealers expected to win in the next day or two he gave the principal credit to "that great New York Senator who said 'I am a Democrat," and was rewarded with the first substantial applause of the evening. Mr. Brown attacked the election laws, and after he had finished with them made a bitter assault upon protection to American industry. "Be-fore the Fifty-third Congress ends," he said, "the McKinley law will be wiped out."

The Pay of Physicians. Washington Post.

"It is astonishing how few physicians ever receive any money for the many night visits they make to sick people," said a well-known practitioner the other day. "It has been my luck ever since I commenced practicing to be called out between 1 and 2 o'clock in the morning about three nights a week, and up to a few months ago I do not remember ever receiving a cent for my trouble. The case I mention was that of a little child in convulsions. I was routed out at an early hour to attend the child, and worked with it for two urs. After saving the little one's life the father asked me what my charges were. "Three dollars,' I replied. 'Can't pay tonight,' said the man, 'but I will give you the money Saturday sure,' I told him I never expected to get it and left. Well, the next Saturday night that man called at my house and handed me three one-dollar bills, and I was never more surprised in my life. I took the money and pasted it on the mirror of my dressing case, telling my wife that I did not want her to take it down or spend it under any circumstances; that I thought it would change my luck. The money is still up there, but I have not noticed any change as yet."

The total sales of stocks, Saturday, were 224,000 shares. The week closed on the New York Stock Exchange with an active and strong speculation. All the conditions seemed to favor an upward movement, yesterday morning, and the usual diffidence which many operators left in carrying stocks over Sunday was not apparent in the dealings. A good bank statement was looked for and it came equally favorable as was anticipated. There was heavy buying on this expectation and renewed purchases on the realization. The special influences working on the market were nearly all on the bull side. London advices showed an improvement in American securities, there was some buying for the foreign account and a little selling as well. Manhattan was in demand by operators who desired to obtain a controlling interest. Atchison was bought for the Boston account and there were large purchasing or-orders for Philadelphia & Iteading. A scarcity of floating Western Union stock was a warning to the short interest to cover. The Washington news too, was very favorable to an immediate vote on the silver bill in the Senate and this discouraged operations on the part of the bears and left the market practically in the hands of the bulls. Final dealings in many cases were at the highest figures of the day, and, in few instances, more than a small fraction below the best. Cordage was an ex-ception to the general list, the publication of the receiver's report having been accepted as unfavorable. The advance in the general list of the transactions of the day extended to 3 per cent. The railway and miscellaneous bond market was very active and strong. Chesa-peake & Ohio, R. & A. division consol four: rose 6. Government bonds were steady and State bonds inactive. Closing quota-

A Week of Disappointment in Trade, with Numerous Changes in Values. In most departments the volume of trade in the week ending Oct. 28 was disappointweaker prices rule than on Monday last. Under this list comes provisions, hides, poultry and vegetables of most kinds. In the grocery line California fruits, beans and some descriptions of canned goods and dried fruits are weaker. Staple groceries, however, are steady and firm. Sweet potatoes are firmer on lighter receipts, but no higher. Irish potatoes on increasing receipts are 10 cents lower than on Monday, making a reduction of 20 cents since Oct. 1. It is believed that they will be still lower. The poultry market is better supplied than a week ago, and prices, although not lower, are easier on a quiet Eastern demand. There was a little more life in the local grain market on Saturday. tional institution as Columbia College traces directly back to a lottery, and perhaps if it had not been for that method of raising funds this city might never have had that great stat of learning. Few of those highly uprignt citizens of this broad land who have unremittingly cried out upon the evils wrought by the Louisiana lottery are aware of the fact that one of the first acts of the American Congress of 1776 was to institute a national lottery, and that the people welcomed it with great joy. Yet such was the case, as history records it. The origin of lotteries is veiled in considerable darkness, and it is almost impossible to find the record of the first establishment of one. In the Roman Saturnalia and in the banquets of the aristo-cratic Romans lotteries were instituted for it has been found impracticable to put the the distribution of favors or prizes as a Washington-park track in condition so that I jewelry without publicity. to distribute to the guests at his feasts packets similar in appearance, but containing articles varying widely in value. This custom was followed on a magnificent scale by succeeding emperors, Nero giving such prizes as a house or a slave. Helio-gabalus introduced the element of absurd-ity, one ticket in his distribution calling per-haps for a golden vase, while another was

The Italian merchants of the middle ages used lotteries for the distribution of their wares. The government of Florence, in 1530, instituted a money attery for the benefit of the state, and in Venice, half a century later, lotteries existed under public control. From that time many European states resorted to the lottery as a means of raising a revenue. The first lottery in England was established in 1569 for the repair of harbors, and was soon followed by anof harbors, and was soon followed by another for the benefit of the Virginia colony.

As already noticed the lottery was from the very first settling of the government of this country a familiar means of raising funds, and up to 1820 at least seventy acts were passed by Congress authorizing lotteries for various public purposes. But the numerous private lotteries which gave rise to many scandalous abuses aroused public opinion against them, and a society was formed in Pennsylvania in 1833 to advocate their suppression. This society led a strong crusade against the lottery principle, and its efforts were ultimately rewarded by the passage of acts in most of the States entirely prohibiting the establishment of anything having the nature of a lottery.

END OF THE SEASON

And Still the 2:04 Records Have Not Been Touched.

Some of the Sires That Have Gained Prominence-How to Buy a Horse -Notes of the Turf.

The season is practically over. Some meetings are yet to be held, but it is not probable that any records are yet to take a tumble. During November the Californians may be expected to do some good work, and fast time will be reported from that quarter, but it is extremely doubtful whether a world's record will be changed.

The season has been prolific with recordbreaking feats, although the extreme record at both the trotting and pacing gaits remains at 2:04, held respectively by Nancy Hanks and Mascot. Nancy will have a try at her record at Terre Haute to-morrow, if the weather is favorable, but it is hardly likely that she will succeed. The last to be recorded is that of the twoyear-old pacer Lena Hill, that smashed all previous records for her sex, age and way of going, on Tuesday of the present week, at Dallas, Tex. This sprightly little filly succeeded in pacing a mile in a race in 2:1314, thus reducing the world's record for her age and sex full three seconds. In reviewing the achievements of two-year-old pacing fillies for the past three years the fact is revealed that the record has been reduced during that time over ten seconds.

Until within a very few months there have been frequent discussions as to the relative excellence of sires with records as compared with those which had none, says the Horse Breeder. It is a well-known fact that persons can often persuade themselves to actually believe whatever they are very anxious to have true, and that is usually exactly what is for their own best interests. Only a few years ago there was a much larger proportion of favorite stallions at the head of prominent stock farms that had no records, and many of their owners were ever ready to argue that undeveloped | by Elgin Boy, for $700. She goes to Ohio. sires were the best, but the class now appears to have entirely disappeared. Mr. Hamiin was, perhaps, the last one heard from, but since the new performers by Almont, jr., and Chimes have become so much more numerous and prominent than those by his former favorite, Mambrino King, the old gentleman has not written a line on what was so long his favorite topic. At the present time Alcantara leads the list of sires in the number of new 2:30 performers for 1893, both as regards his total of trotters and pacers and of trotters alone. He was a famous colt trotter, was not only developed, but campaigned, trotting several hard races, and his record of 2:23 was made as a four-year-old. Furthermore he is the son of George Wilkes, 2:22, a developed sire that was campaigned for years and held the champion trotting record before he ever amounted to anything in the stud. It is a very noticeable fact that a large number of the sons of George Wilkes are among the most prominent sires to his credit, nine of which are trotters, and about the same number previously in the list have reduced their records this season, five of the latter being now in the 2:20 list, having reduced their former marks to 2:13%, 2:15%, etc., and two others, one of which is a four-year-old, have reduced their records to within a fraction of 2:20. Next in rank is Hamlin's Almont, jr., 2:26, which, from the beginning of the season until quite recently, has held first place. He now has to his credit twelve new ones. eight of which are trotters, but only three of those by him formerly in the list have reduced their records. He was also cam-paigned, and his record of 2:26, made in the ing in its volume, while in many lines second heat of a winning race twelve years ago, while his prominence as a sire has nearly all been achieved since that time. His development was begun early, and the records show that he won a good race as four-year-old. It is practically certain that he would not have proven any better, and probably not as good, had he never been harnessed, as it is very doubtful if he would have been given as good an opportunity had that been the case.

Chimes is another of the most prominent of the year, with eight new ones to his credit, and considerably younger than any other sire of anywhere near equal prominence. Fantasy, 2:13%, is the fastest and best three-year-old of the year, and one of fastest of all the new 2:30 performers. Chimes's development was begun very early. He took a two-year-old record of 2:3314 in the second heat of a winning race at Lexington, Ky., against Georgette and the now successful Vermont sire, Victor Wilkes. As a three-year-old he took a record of 2:30% in the third heat of a race also at Lexington, and though he had that year practically nothing but waik-overs he was one of the most prominent winners of all the youngsters that have yet appeared. The total amount of his winnings as a three-year-old was $620, and according to our recollection this placed him at the head of the winners for that year. He was not beaten, and there is no question but what he was one of the fastest youngsters that had been bred at Palo Alto, notwithstanding the fact that so many of the others have taken lower records. No other has made quite as good a showing this year as a sire of colt trotters, five by him having entered the 2:20 list, one of which is a twoyear-old, while two others have taken four-year-old records of 2:214 and 2:234.

Some one who knows says: "Don't buy a horse in harness. Unhitch him and take everything off but his halter and lead him around. If he has a corn or is stiff, or has any other failing, you can see it. Let him go by himself a ways and if he staves right in to anything you know he is blind. No matter how clear and bright his eyes are he can't see any more than a bat. Back him, too. Some horses show their weakness or tricks in that way when they don't in any other. But, be as smart as you can, you'll get caught sometimes. Even an expert gets stuck. A horse may look ever so nice and go a great pace and yet have fits. There isn't a man who could tell it until something happens. Or he may have a weak back. Give him the whip and off he goes for a mile or two, then all of a sudden he stops on the road. After a rest he starts again, but soon stops for good and nothing but a derrick can start him. The weak points of a horse can be better discovered while standing than moving. If he is sound he will stand firmly and squarely on his limbs without moving them, with legs plump and naturally poised; or if the foot is taken from the ground and the weight taken from it the disease may be There is a continual howl nowadays about suspected, or at least tenderness, which is the perniciousness of lotteries and the evils the precursor of disease. If the horse stands with his front feet spread apart, or straddles with his hind legs, there is a weakness in his loins and his kidneys are giving lotteries was partly indorsed by such disordered. Place your ear at the heart and if a wheezing sound is heard it is an indication of trouble."

> Monroe Salisbury went up to Chicago Monday and met Mr. Jones, and the race between Alix and Directum was declared off. There has been no misunderstanding between the owners, both of them being days. Nothing has been done to the track since the meeting closed, nearly five weeks ago. Mr. Salisbury examined the entire course carefully and was greatly disappointed in finding that so much time and labor would be required to make it ready for a race. The Washington Park Club has courteously agreed to allow the use of its track, although the grand stand had been dismantled, the chairs packed away and everything closed up for the winter. Mr. Salisbury shipped Directum to New York to meet the pacer Mascot at Fleet-wood. That track is kept in condition all the time, and it may be, if the weather holds propitious, that the latter race may be brought off.

Turf Notes. Hulda walks now without limping much.

Saladin, 2:051/2, will hardly ever reduce his Atlantic King, 2:09%, holds the record for Ohio bred pacers.

Blazeberry has been away out in Nebraska. She has been winning, too. Eighteen sons of Onward have sired new standard performers this season. The driver of Pamlico, 2:101/2, and David

B., 2:121/2, is but twenty years of age. Gambrel, 2:101/2, reluctantly gives the State record to his cousin, Coastman, 2:081/4. The Northwestern Breeders' Association, Chicago, cleared $27,000 at their last meet-

George Starr still insists, in the face of the recent pacing performances, that Direct is the greatest pacer ever foaled. Robert J's two heats at Lexington in 2:05% and 2:05% were very fast miles even in these days of bikes and Ed Geerses.

A. L. Winship, Rushville, Ind., has sold his young pacing filly Lilly B., trial 2:221/2. Jay G. Voss, Indianapolis, owns some excellent brood mares, producers and record mares. He drives an Onward filly on the streets.

Axtell now has two in the 2:20 list, Axle, 2:15%, and Elloree, 2:18, both three-yearolds. The latter also suckled a colt this

Nelson, 2:09, has a cracked hoof, and 2:101/4 was the best he could do at the inaugural meeting of Rigby Park, Portland. Me., last week. Hal Dillard, 2:07%, started six times this season and won five races and $5,775 in stakes and purses. The report that he was distanced in his race at St. Joseph, Mo., was incorrect. Hal Pointer is in for this season, and perhaps for all time. Of course, he hurt his tendon when he ran away last winter. He was never driven much on the track. He has earned his owner $10,000 clear this sea-After both a brilliant and successful campaign, Dave Raybould will go into winter juarters with his horses at his home near Nashville, Tenn. Among the horses he will prepare for next season's campaign are Lord Clinton, Medio, Colonel Dickey and several others. Fleetwood Park's meeting was so great a success that a neat sum was left after all expenses were paid, and the committee has been able to return to the members a check for the amount of their contribution to the $11,725 guarantee fund raised to assure the success of the meeting. The Jewett farm has three four-year-olds in the 2:15 list, viz., Turco 2:13, Henrico 2:15 and Divan 2;15. Bonnie, the three-year-old colt by Bonnie Boy, will enter the list before snow flies. The other day the youngster won a race against a strong wind and on a poor track in 2:331/2, 2:351/2 and Mascot paced a half in 1:011/2 at the Buffalo track Friday. The champion is in fine condition for his match race with Directum, which will take place at Fleetwood Park, New York. The race will be for $2,500 a side, as originally suggested by W. P. Taylor. Billy Taylor is very confident that Mascot will win. The racing at the county fairs is better to-day than that at the State fairs was eight or ten years ago. People who sneer at the "agricultural trots" nowadays are sadly behind the times. Let the agricultural associations exert themselves and put up good purses and they will get good horses for every class, as the bike is well adapted for the short turns on half-mile tracks. The early stud career of the dead Harold was a limited one so far as the number of foals are concerned. Until eleven years old the total number of foals got by Harold was but nineteen, and but very few had then been bred to him except such as were difficult to get with foal or otherwise considered undesirable for breeding to what were then supposed to be his superiors.
